Diplomatic Practice and Negotiation: Missions, Correspondence and Official Visits

Ref: 293_12168 Date: 26 – 30 October 2026 Location: Paris - Right Bank business hotel Fees: 23500 SAR

Introduction:

Diplomatic practice is often learned by imitation: notes verbales copied from old files, démarches delivered without a written record and delegations sent to talks without a clear mandate. The result is thin reporting, lost negotiating ground and avoidable friction with counterparts. This Core Concept course gives international relations and government-affairs staff the working methods of diplomatic practice, from mission functions under the Vienna Conventions to correspondence, negotiation, official visits and crisis handling. Through role-play, each participant builds a Diplomatic Engagement Portfolio for a live bilateral or multilateral file.

Course Objectives:

- Explain the functions, classes and staffing of a diplomatic mission as the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations states them, and separate consular from diplomatic work
- Draft notes verbales, démarche talking points, aide-mémoires, briefing papers and reporting cables in their accepted form
- Prepare a negotiating mandate and planning sheet for bilateral talks and for multilateral conference texts
- Plan official visits and manage delegations, applying precedence among heads of mission and state ceremonial at overview level
- Advance economic and public diplomacy aims and handle crisis, persona non grata and inviolability cases within recognised practice
- Assemble a Diplomatic Engagement Portfolio for a real bilateral or multilateral file

Target Audience:

- International relations and foreign-affairs officers responsible for bilateral and multilateral files
 - Government-affairs staff responsible for representing an organisation before ministries, embassies and international bodies
 - Visit and delegation coordinators responsible for incoming and outgoing official missions
 - Liaison and policy staff responsible for preparing briefing papers and positions for senior officials
 - Trade and investment promotion staff responsible for commercial advocacy with foreign counterparts

Skills You Will Gain:

- Diplomatic Drafting
- Cable Reporting
- Negotiating Mandate Preparation
- Multilateral Consensus Building
- Delegation Management
- Diplomatic Precedence
- Economic Advocacy
- Crisis Coordination Between States

Why Attend This Course:

- Return with a Diplomatic Engagement Portfolio for a live file, containing a note verbale, briefing paper, negotiation brief and visit plan
- Write correspondence that a counterpart ministry recognises as correctly formed at first reading
- Rehearse a démarche and a bilateral negotiation against peers playing the other side
- Compare practice with ministry, agency and corporate government-affairs colleagues from several countries

Conclusion:

Effective representation rests on knowing what a mission may do, writing in forms counterparts accept, negotiating from a clear mandate and running visits that serve the relationship. This course moves from the channels of diplomacy and the Vienna Conventions, through notes verbales, démarches and reporting cables, to negotiation, multilateral texts and delegation management, then to precedence, economic and public diplomacy, crisis cases and ethics. The final day rehearses a démarche and a negotiation, and each participant leaves with a Diplomatic Engagement Portfolio ready for their next bilateral or multilateral file.
